Jas,

Your schedule is cleared and your profile is under review. The worry here is that when we schedule you for a certain number of shifts and hours, you work less than what we originally confirmed. You working less means that you, and Acrobat, make less money than we planned for. The theory here is that if we offered those shifts to someone else, that person would be able to work ALL the hours and maybe even more but that didn't happen because we gave you those shifts. You are not eligible for shifts until we have reviewed your profile and deemed you fit to work. I'll update you by next Friday, til then you will not be offered any work.

With permission! I was told it was up to the supervisor, I asked if I could they could've told me no and I would have had to just had to finish my shift. But I didn't just leave my shift early. What's the problem on getting me on shifts? And did you switch me to the 3:30 shifts for outsiders?

Hi Jasmenda,

Did you leave your last shift early? I'm having trouble finding some place to put you.
