my friend that day we applied together and he wore some pajamas and a sports shirt, and you did not complain that he was not properly dressed. and from there you began to discriminate against me. You are very unprofessional and you do not know how to do your job, I do not know if your manager knows that you like to ask personal questions like the day you asked me if I was in a relation with my friend davante. that's something very personal that an

that's something very personal that an employer like you should not ask. And emily she send you the hours but you just did not want to do your job.yesterday I went for my check and you gave me an attitude like it was my fault that my check was wrong, I'm going to send you some screenchots that emily give me to prove you the work hours and days ,also if you thought to fired me. you would have communicated it would have communicated it yesterday when I was in your office. I come to work this morning and emily told me that I no longer had work hours for me, I just went to spend time and money and pay $ 7 for parking. It's weird that they're not need staff anymore when jordan every day send working offers .
