Hi Jaime,

I'd like to inform you of an incident that occurred today that has me feeling uncomfortable.

I let my coworker Dorin know that I was going on my last 10 minute break at 230.

As I was exiting the 5th floor kitchen door I noticed that Mathew Kelly took his apron off. I went downstairs to have a cigarette in the area near the south gate on Owen's street. A few minutes later Mathew came through the gate and approached me. He said "lemme see your lighter". I said excuse me. He replied gimme your lighter. I asked him if he would like to borrow my lighter. He smiled and said in a mocking tone yes please. I let him use the lighter. He then leaned against the wall across from me and smoked his cigarette. I immediately got up and left.

Mathew and I have both been advised by both the services company as well as our managers to limit our interactions to one another to work related topics. Mathew has been vocal on the work floor that he does not have to talk to me. In light of the recent incidents we have been discussing regarding this coworker, this particular incident feels antagonistic and was not welcome.

Please let me know if you need any additional information.

Thank you,
Sara
