Hello Armando,

At the Service companies we spend a large majority of our time calling, texting and emailing staff about potential shifts. We must utilize our time as best as possible to better serve our staff and clients. As such, we will be removing you from Active status because you never picked up a shift.

When you find you have time to pick up shifts, please feel free to reach out. We can re-activate your status at that time but you will have to pick up a shift at that time.

Thank you

Sarah Magno
