

has nothing to do with this it's what you said. I finally told Chris we are not going to resolve this. Chris told her all I wanted was an apology she needs her here and I have no problem with her staying. I just wanted an apology but she got an attitude and said maybe I'm just looking for trouble and left. She was way to comfortable from the start 90% of the time she said something had to do with sex. On the 26th a group of us was just talking, out of no where she grabbed me on my hips and lifted my shirt I grabbed my food then left to help Jody.
