I'm not going to be able to come back right now cause I'm going through some personal stuff right now I'm sorry

Sounds good but please remember to give heads up in situations like this even if it's with another company. It affects other employees when their schedules have to get fixed because someone did not show up and did not give a heads up at least. Good luck with your situation hopefully it gets resolved soon

When would I be able to get the paycard so I can get paid for friday

At this point they're probably just going to mail you a check

OK
