

Goodmorning, i had my back adjusted yesterday by my chiropractor but i was asked to come in to see her again today. She informed me that my adjustment would probably not stick if i dont come in for another session. Unfortunately her operating hours contradict my work schedule so i wont be able to make it in again. I did receive a note authorizing my absents from yesterday and i will get one for today as well.

The image shows a photograph of a printed "ABSENCE AUTHORIZATION" form. The form is tilted and placed on a dark, textured surface. It contains several fields for patient information and a section for a doctor's recommendation. Handwritten text in black ink fills out the form. The title "ABSENCE AUTHORIZATION" is printed in bold, uppercase letters. Below it, there is a section titled "To Whom It May Concern:" followed by a line for the patient's name, "Adrian Soriano". There is a checkbox for "work" which is checked with an 'X', and a checkbox for "school" which is unchecked. The date "11/7/23" is written in the "Date" field. The doctor's name "Dr. Linh Nguyen" is written in the "Dr." field. The address "City" is partially visible. The form also includes a section for the doctor's signature and a line for the patient's signature.
