Hello Anthony,

Per our conversation, you have been cancelled from your assignment at Stripe. The kitchen managers have provided feedback and per the discussions I have had with you regarding your ability to follow directions and quality of production, they have decided this position may not be the best fit.

Your last check for the hours worked this week will be paid out per the payroll cycle on Friday 2/9, and it will include any PTO hours that you have accrued.

I will leave you active in the system and will update you if there are any positions that become available with any other clients.

Best,

Jaime Barnhart

Operations Manager
