Hello Angel,

Per our conversation earlier, since you did not show up to work and you did not notify any managers that you were either calling out or running late, you have been marked as a no call no show. Due to this, the rest of your shifts that were scheduled for this week have been cancelled. I will speak with the client to see what they would like to do moving forward, but for now you are not scheduled to come in. Your hours worked this week will be paid out next Friday per the payroll cycle.

Thank you,

Jaime Barnhart
