Good morning, I'm a little confused with those hours you are reporting. It doesn't seem like you showed up at all. Your name is not on the timesheet. How did you come up with those hours you're reporting?

Those are the hours I had worked

I'm confused because I received an email showing the amount I was to be paid but I haven't received it

Fri, 2:27 PM

Patricia

Hi, who did you report to during your shift?

MSG from TSC -Patty

PM

The banquet supervisor Idk the name

I'm going to need more details. The manager didn't see you at the venue and your name is not on the list.

MSG from TSC -Patty

I don't understand, I would send pictures if I had known to take some.

I was there and if I am not getting paid for it then that's a big issue

Yesterday, 1:09 PM

Patricia

Can you describe the manager you reported to?

MSG from TSC -Patty

PM

Yeah it was a woman

I even had to let them know I was leaving at 4pm both days because that was what was scheduled for me

Yesterday, 2:50 PM

Am I going to receive the payment for those days or ??

Patricia

If you work the hours you will be compensated, unfortunately we need to wait for the client to confirm that you were there since your name is not on the timesheet and everyone else that worked the event signed in and out.

MSG from TSC -Patty

Do you remember, which station did you work or the name of the person you worked with?

I did in fact sign in and out, I said I don't recall what the ladies name was.

I wasn't prepared to be writing down every detail to have to prove everything so I can receive my pay

Patricia

I understand, if you read my question carefully, I didn't ask you to describe every detail of the event but considering that you were there 2 days in a row, I'd assume you can give a quick description of your shift and the station you were assigned to so we can share the info with the client.

MSG from TSC -Patty

We will definitely get you paid if you worked those hours, like I already mentioned before we just need the client's approval to get you paid and I'll need to share this info with the client for them to have as a reference that you were in fact there.

Yeah I worked with about 2 other employees(different employees both days) in a room they use for banquets and conventions

Patricia

Thank you, I'm sending this over to the client and I'll get back to you as soon as they confirm.
