Sunday - what happened? You will not be able to work this Sunday unless you provide a valid reason for not showing up to your shift. Thank you

RB

I showed up for work they sent me home at check in stating that i don't have a collard shirt on „ even though for the last couple of times Ive work i didn't have one on

Thank you for letting us know. Moving forward, please contact your staffing managers if something like this happens again. You were marked as a no show because you failed to communicate with us. We will remove your no show since you did actually show up.

SoFi recently had a uniform change. Please be sure to read all confirmation emails thoroughly to avoid this from happening again. Thank you, Jessica! You are still confirmed for this Sunday
