Hey I don't want to call out but I'm sick with something that is making me throw up all day and that is the protocol per food safety , so it would be wrong not to call out and I didn't know till today that I felt this way . I'm very sorry for not being able to make it in , I'd power through it but according to food and beverage service regulations I should not be working .

Michelle

That is correct, however we require 24 hours notice for call outs. Calling out with less than 24 hours notice is per The Venue guidelines is considered a no show. Please make sure going forward you are informing us ahead of time as now we have no chance of covering you.
