Bio and Skills

Hey my name is Liliana but I usually go by Lilly. I am 23yrs old. Over a year ago I decided I wanted to be a brand ambassador easy gigs on the weekends since I was still attending college and so far I'm in love with it. I've done a variety of events from in store demos to working events, festivals, private parties. Usually checking people into certain event areas or handing out products and making sure the customer always has all the information that's needed. I do like to update my resume after every other event so it can be current.
